

Case Reports for Psychologists, Diagnosticians, and Special Educators: A Comprehensive Guide to Best Practices

Case reports are an essential tool for psychologists, diagnosticians, and special educators. They provide a detailed account of a client's history, assessment, and intervention, and they serve as a valuable resource for both clinicians and researchers. However, writing a well-written case report can be a challenging task. There are a number of factors to consider, including the purpose of the report, the audience, and the ethical guidelines that must be followed.
