The book begins with a simple question: "Do you know what everyone does?" The answer, of course, is that everyone poops. From babies to adults, from animals to plants, everyone needs to poop.

The book then goes on to explain the different types of poop that people can have. There's hard poop, soft poop, stinky poop, and even poop that floats. The book also explains why it's important to poop regularly and how to make sure that your poop is healthy.

Everyone Poops is a fun and educational book that is perfect for children of all ages. It's a great way to help children learn about pooping and to make them feel more comfortable with this important bodily function.

Here are some of the things that children will learn from Everyone Poops:

- That everyone poops, no matter how old or big or small they are.
- That there are different types of poop, and that it's okay for your poop to look different from someone else's poop.
- That it's important to poop regularly, and that you should try to poop once or twice a day.
- That you should try to eat healthy foods, because the foods that you eat can affect your poop.
- That you should drink plenty of fluids, because fluids help to keep your poop soft and easy to pass.
- That you should wash your hands after you poop, because poop can contain germs.

Everyone Poops is a valuable resource for parents and educators alike. It's a fun and informative way to help children learn about pooping and to make them feel more comfortable with this important bodily function.
